BSP urges banks to exercise prudence in extending loans to local gov't units

By Leticia A. Alarcon

The Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) has issued a circular asking banks to exercise prudence in extending loans to local government units (LGUs) to help them manage their debt. The BSP said that LGUs have been borrowing heavily from banks to fund their operations, and this has led to a rapid increase in their debt. The BSP said that it is concerned about the ability of LGUs to service their debt, and it is urging banks to exercise prudence in extending loans to LGUs. The BSP said that it is also urging LGUs to exercise prudence in borrowing from banks. The BSP said that it is also urging LGUs to improve their financial management and to reduce their debt. The BSP said that it is also urging LGUs to seek alternative sources of financing, such as issuing bonds or seeking private sector investment.

Government debt payments declined in the first quarter of the year to the same period in 2005 mainly because of lower principal payments, which offset the increase in interest payments, latest data from the Bureau of the Treasury (BTR) showed.

The government's interest payments on its debt declined by 15 percent from the P10.9 billion in the first quarter of 2005 to P9.3 billion in the first quarter of 2006. The BTR said that the decline in interest payments was mainly due to the lower interest rate on the government's debt. The BTR said that the decline in interest payments was also due to the lower principal payments on the government's debt. The BTR said that the decline in principal payments was mainly due to the lower principal payments on the government's debt. Everything you've always wanted to know about anemia but were too weak to ask

Dr. Patricia A. Rivera, MD

Dr. Patricia A. Rivera, MD, is a board-certified internist and a faculty member at the University of the Philippines Manila.

Though not a normal part of aging, mild anemia becomes fairly common with older age and can leave those with it more frail, weak, and prone to falls. Here, then, are 10 adults' life stories and by age 60, about 10 percent of women are anemic. I hope what you should know about this blood disorder.

BY RICHARD CHAN

anemia is one of the most common of all

Mild anemia is a condition in which the blood contains fewer red blood cells than normal. It is a common condition, especially in older people. Anemia can be caused by a variety of factors, including iron deficiency, vitamin B12 deficiency, and chronic kidney disease. It can also be a symptom of a more serious condition, such as cancer or a bone marrow disorder.

Normal red blood cells (erythrocytes) are seen.

Red cells in your blood transport oxygen to your cells and carry away waste. Without enough hemoglobin — the iron-rich protein that gives blood its red color — the oxygen can't get to your cells. This leads to anemia. Anemia is usually caused by iron deficiency, but it can also be caused by vitamin B12 deficiency, chronic kidney disease, or a bone marrow disorder. Anemia can be treated with iron supplements, vitamin B12, or blood transfusions. In some cases, it can be a sign of a more serious condition, such as cancer or a bone marrow disorder.

National Book Store BUTTERFLY PEOPLE

CNN Hero of the Year Robin Lim's first novel now available

Don't say too much. Look at the butterflies. They are very beautiful and fly fast. But when the winds fall, they don't fly at all. They don't make a sound. The butterfly is not as fast as the hawk.

Butterfly People

a novel by Robin Lim

"Butterfly People" is the first novel of CNN Hero of the Year Robin Lim. A national bestseller for its generations of a Filipino family from Baguio, Lim's story is a powerful and moving portrait of a family's struggles and triumphs. The novel is a testament to the power of the human spirit and the strength of family bonds.

Patricia Alexander and columnist Edgar Maunula describe the novel as "a work of magical realism that defies all the right words. It is brought to life by the author's own life and the lives of the people who inspired it. The novel is a testament to the power of the human spirit and the strength of family bonds."

The Canon Camera Story

Canon's history started with the pioneering spirit of a Japanese man named Shiro Takahashi. By nature, Takahashi loved to tinker with machines and instruments, and was already engaged in repairing and remodeling movie picture cameras and projectors. In 1902, he started building and selling 35mm hand projectors under the name Canon.

At the time, German-made cameras dominated the market, but they came at a price many people could not afford. The young Takahashi, who had seen for first the same mechanical equipment prices elsewhere, pursued only two goals: to produce inexpensive instruments such as lenses, shutters, view finders and so on.

And so together with his brother-in-law, Isidoro Araki and Isidoro Masaki, a former employee of Leica, Takahashi established the Precision Optical Instruments Laboratory in Tokyo in the pursuit to make high-end cameras more affordable to the masses.
